Protective Shield Complex

The hands' natural protective shield, the hydrolipid film, is destroyed by the increased washing and disinfection of the hands. We have therefore put together a plant complex for you that not only helps to restore the natural protective shield of the skin, but also contains numerous plants that have been proven to have an antiviral or antiseptic effect.

In symbiosis with nature

The symbiosis of man with nature has become essential and the coexistence of living beings of different species is mutually beneficial. Permaculture is a concept that aims to create sustainable and natural cycles. Originally developed for agriculture, it is now a principle of reflection, which also includes energy supply as well as the design of landscaped areas and social infrastructure. More
